

The CCPS All-Points Bulletin

April 2004

A Message from the Secretary

The Department is proud to announce a new pilot project called the CCPS iForum, which will debut at noon on Friday, May 14th. The iForum is a secure, online discussion where all CCPS employees can send in questions to a different guest each month. I am honored to be the first iForum guest, and I encourage you to submit questions beginning May 7th on any subject related to our Department. You can follow the transcript on the website in real time, or read the transcript online for weeks afterward. You can even submit questions during the session as the discussion unfolds.

Any CCPS employee can access the iForum from your office or home computer. To get started, please use Internet Explorer and go to www.nccrimecontrol.org/iform. The instructions will lead you through the sign-on process, plus you'll be able to see the transcript of a test session conducted in April. The aim is to create an internet forum just like visiting an auditorium to hear a speaker. The questions submitted will be sorted by a moderator, just like a meeting where the audience passes questions up to the speaker on an index card. I will answer as many as I can during the 30 minute session. You will be able to rate the process and suggest future guests and topics. Please visit the iForum, and join me live on May 14th or review the transcript at a time most convenient to you. Thank you.

Bryan E. Beatty
